

MACDONALD SAYS VOTE FOR MR. TAFT

And Incidentally Paid a Glowing Tribute to Congressman Bart- lett—Eastern Conditions In- terestingly Discussed.

Malcom Macdonald, president of the First National bank of Tonopah, and one of the oldest pioneers and best known mining authorities and engineers in Nevada, is back from an eastern trip. While away Mr. Macdonald made a careful study of the financial situation, and of the effect which the present national campaign is having upon it. And as he is in close touch with some of the largest and most powerful financial interests of the east, his observations will be interesting to Bonanza readers. Although Mr. Macdonald has been back for some days and Bonanza representatives have been importing him for an interview on the eastern political and financial situation, it was only yesterday that he would make any statement at all. "Too busy," he would reply. Yesterday, however, he submitted to the interview, and his statement was as follows:

"I had an opportunity to talk with many of the business men of New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Chicago, and while as a class they predict the election of Taft, they will not even talk of any project, no matter how meritorious, that means the letting go of a dollar, until after the election. Even among those of the business world who favor Bryan, there is a feeling of lack of confidence in the event of his success. They frankly admit that Bryan's success would mean a continuation of present conditions. The mining industry, more largely than any other, is dependent for its revival and continuation upon the complete and absolute restoration of business confidence, and I firmly believe that this essential confidence can be quickly and permanently brought about by the election of Mr. Taft. I also believe it to be the duty of the business men, miners and all who have the true interests of Nevada at heart to rise above mere partisanship and see to it that the electoral vote of Nevada is cast for Taft.

"My absence in the east has prevented my following very closely the local campaign, but I feel that I should be remiss in my duty to the interests of my native state if I failed to urge in the strongest manner possible the return to congress of our fearless and able fellow townsman, George A. Bartlett. I have been a life-long Republican and firmly believe that the policies it has advocated have been patriotic and for the greatest good of the country, but in this state, at this time, we are confronted with a question the decision of which means the safety of our homes, our rights as American citizens to freedom under the law, the right to a peaceful and orderly arbitration of contested points. I have only the most kindly sentiment and feelings for the Republican nominee for congress, and under ordinary conditions would urge his election, but the present conditions are extraordinary and I have no hesitancy in urging the people of Nevada, irrespective of party affiliations, to vote for George A. Bartlett. I believe that every citizen, every supporter of law and order, every law abiding man who believes that he is entitled to all the rights that are accorded to every other law abiding man, should see to it that his vote is counted for Bartlett.

"The peculiar and bitter fight which has been waged against Bartlett, should be the strongest possible appeal to the friends of law and order to his support.

"While in Washington I had ample opportunity to learn of his value to the state as a representative. His straight-forwardness, fearlessness, energy, industry, kindly geniality and generosity seemed to have made him a host of friends worth while, and when he went after any proposition for the good of the state, I noticed that those at the head of the different departments were his friends and were willing to render him any assistance in their power, though he had only been there a part of one term, under adverse circumstances. Where it was a question of the needs of Nevada, the hours were not too long or the work too arduous for Bartlett. He certainly made a record for which Nevada will not be called upon to apologize.

"I speak of the head of the ticket for the reason that my visit to the east has given me an opportunity to see what was going on and judge for myself, while the great majority of the voters of Nevada have not had that opportunity.

"As for the local ticket, I think that everyone has made up his mind and that, very largely, party lines will be disregarded and that the best man will be voted for, and when the polls are closed we should accept the wish of the majority and pull together and make Nevada the greatest mineral producing state of the nation.

"Nevada is still in the limelight in the mining world. Her meritorious properties are making good, and it only requires the restoration of confidence of financial men, both here and in Europe, to get them to assist us in uncovering the vast mineral wealth of our state."

HOSIERY SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Zeb Kendall gave a hosiery shower Thursday evening in honor of Miss Alicia Grimes, whose wedding occurs in the near future. Prominently displayed among the many pairs of handsome hose presented were two cute little hand-knit socks. After the shower a delightful evening was spent with cards, following which a delicious supper was served.

BAKER CLUB WILL HOLD A RALLY TONIGHT

Tonight at 8:30 the Cleve Baker club will have its last big rally, holding forth in Democratic headquarters, under the Tonopah club. Mr. Baker has just returned from his final canvass of the county and will speak on the favorable outlook for his election as district attorney as evidenced by the feeling in the outlying districts.

The Cleve Baker club is not affiliated with any of the political parties, being an organization gotten up and maintained by his personal friends, regardless of their political tendencies towards other candidates, and has enrolled as members a great many Republicans, Democrats and adherents of other parties. No political issue is ever discussed in the club meetings, the sole object being to elect Cleve Baker as the next district attorney. This big rally tonight has been arranged even without Mr. Baker's knowledge, and is for the purpose of cheering him along in the magnificent campaign he has so successfully conducted. The many friends of Mr. Baker, whether members of the Baker club or not, are most cordially invited and strongly urged to turn out tonight in this last big demonstration before election. An exceptionally good entertainment will be provided, refreshments will be served, and a good time is assured.

MASQUERADE BALL POPULAR

A large crowd attended the masquerade last evening at the Miners' Exchange hall and everybody had a good time. A number of unique costumes and characters were in evidence, and as usual the person whom you thought you knew and had picked out proved to be somebody else when the unmasking time arrived. Miss Gold Reef was there in all her glory, while the Western Girl and the Cowboy were ready to shoot out the lights at any time. Then there were clowns galore and princes and Dutchmen and in fact everybody. The floor presented a gala appearance throughout the evening, and the Hal-low'en club deserves the utmost credit for the entertainment it had so well arranged.

NEW ATTRACTION AT THE BUTLER

"A Trip Abroad" at the Butler theater tonight promises to be an interesting as well as a humorous musical play. The scene is laid on board a boat en route for Europe. Many funny situations are introduced by the author, and the music, which is some of Mr. Alphin's best, is sure to please. A new and novel reel of animated pictures will be shown and the performance will commence promptly at 7:30 p. m.
